“ My heart is saddened by the loss of my very dear friend, Eric. He was a great husband, fantastic father, and an incredible friend. I first met Eric and his family in Germany, I believe in 1989. He was in the same unit as my ex husband. We, as couples, had many adventures together. We went on many bike rides (pedal bikes) thru all parts of Germany. We drove to Holland together, we threw parties together, went shopping together. We hung out all the time. Eric was just one of those people that was a joy to be around and he always had a smile on his face. One of my, maybe not so great memories, was when my ex and Eric took off on a bike ride together with his dog Max and my dog Ozzy. They were only supposed to be gone for a few hours. Well it started getting dark and Holly called and asked if I had heard from Brian or Eric. I said no, and it's getting dark and I'm getting pretty worried. We called the MPs to see if they had heard anything or knew of anything, luckily they hadn't. And then I think about an hour after that, Eric comes blasting through my apartment door and said we got to go . I asked where is Brian. Eric said he's in the woods somewhere, not exactly sure where, Brian and the 2 dogs. So Holly, Eric and I set out to find them. To make a long story short, after about an 1 1/2 hours, and getting stuck in a ditch, we found them in a little shack in the woods. They were hiding from the wild boars. It was a relief to find them. Holly and I were pretty mad for a little while. Then it just turned into a great story to tell. One that will never be forgotten. There are many more stories of our great friendship. None that will be forgotten. Just like Eric. He will never be forgotten. I love you Eric. Rest In Peace ole friend. May Holly, Anthony, and Tracy find peace in all their memories. Love to you all. Friends forever, Jackie.
