“ We thank you Mom/Grandma for everything you have done for us and for loving us so much. You were always there for us no matter what it was. From babysitting to cooking, shopping, yard sales or just to talk, you were always there. Lending an ear and advising us the best that you could. You were always a strong force in our life as you were basically our mother as well as our father at times. Mom, you raised us to be strong, fearless, and to be go-getters. Your life was not always easy, but you never gave up. You raised us and you dedicated your entire life to us, you always put us first. From the time we were born and into adulthood you were always there.

Mom, we miss you so much. We miss hearing your voice, we miss your advice, we miss your phone calls, and we miss your presence. Thank you for everything you taught us, cooking, cleaning, and being self-sufficient. Thank you for pushing us to take risks. Thank you for the advice you provided even when we didn't ask for it. Thank you for your bluntness and for always speaking the truth, even if it hurt.

Mom don't worry about us. You taught us to love each other and take care of each other and that's what we will do. We know you will continue to watch over us and take care of us just as you always have, and we thank you for that.

Please know mom that you will forever be in our heart. We will never forget you. We will always love you.

Thank you for being the best mom and grandma.

With Love Always

Nancy, Carol, Juan, Jamil and all your Grandchildren

“ Every single one of us loved grandma. She was a great mother and provider. She was the best mama a son and daughter could ever have. I loved the way she would light up the room and make everyone smile when she walked through the door on holidays. I especially loved when she would call my mom on the phone, and I would hear my mom start laughing about all the family drama. It always made me happy knowing my mom had a best friend she could count on.

I want to share my favorite memory of grandma. I remember it like it was just yesterday. I got home from work and there she was nice, warm, and cozy in my mom's bed. She saw me and said, "aye que guapo". I gave her the biggest hug and kiss on her cheeks.

On what would be her last Christmas, I wanted to make it the best Christmas she ever had. My dad and I bought the most beautiful tree just for her. My mom and I decorated the tree with beautiful lights and ornaments while grandma watched from the recliner enjoying the Christmas music. I'll never forget the smile she had on her face.

Te amo grandma. I'm sure going to miss you.

Your mijo Julián.
