“Denver was a wonderful man and I will miss him and his booming voice. He was one in a million and a dear friend of my family. A giant with a giant heart. He was a devoted husband to his wife and a proud, loving father and grandfather. He was also a remarkable investigator who was honest and worked tirelessly to ensure justice. Rest in peace my friend.

“Denver was such a bigger than life person. He had character. He loved the human side of his work and enjoyed people. And they enjoyed being around him, even in trying circumstances, which his work entailed many times.

He was an honest man, as City of Visalia people know (which is a story unto itself).
