“ A lifetime of memories which I'll share with her kids although they know most of them. However, since we shared a bedroom growing up, I have lots. She was my "wild" sister who was up to try anything: from climbing trees, to trying to drive at approximately 6 years old,, to waking every morning to style my hair before I went to work. Loyal to her friends and family. I'll miss her craziness and her phone calls even at 2 a.m. Love your sus, Emma

“ There so many memories. Like the time you talked me into taking a Medical Billing and Coding class with Ernest and you. Then a week later you both dropped classes. You said I need something to do. You had a big smile on your face when you said it. I will never forget you Aunt Doris. Love you tell my dad hi
