“TOO many memories to share. Jasper was like my brother. He always told me he loved how when ever he would randomly disappear to a different town (which happened quite a few times) I was the only friend that would always look for him, make sure he was okay and stayed in contact. That was my best friend for 6 years now. He always looked out for me and respected the decisions I made even if he didn't like them. He had such a kind soul. I do regret our petty fights and not taking as many pictures with him, but our memories will forever live on in my heart. He didn't have the best up bringing, and I knew that, I constantly told him I loved him and that I was always there for him, and I hope he felt how much I meant it, that is something I'll never regret. I know god will love him, and he deserves all the love in the world. I remember once we were at a pool hall and a homeless man was laying on the floor and it was freezing out and he took off his flannel and gave it to him. It probably didn't do much cuz jasper was super skinny haha but it just goes to show how big his heart was. I love you Jasper. Wish you could have met Junnyor. I'll Definitely tell him all about you and I hope his heart is as pure as yours growing up. I know your watching over him. Thank you for loving me unconditionally and being my best friend. I hope your as happy as you can be and feel all that love god is giving you. Rest In Peace Friend.
