“ This remembrance in honor of Jerry McCaslin is from Dave Armstrong. I am a recently retired documentation professional/staff technologist who shared office space (cube directly next to Jerry's) at the same facility in Northern California.

It was a real honor to get to know Jerry in my last year and some months, after many years working under the same roof but with very different job orientations. At various times we interfaced on issues where he was the subject matter expert and his input was invaluable to critical documentation efforts.

Once, just a few years back at the work site, I had left my keys in my car (locked out), with the window cracked open just a bit (luckily). Jerry had a tool which he lended to me - an extendable magnet or grabber - which turned out to be just the ticket to retrieve the keys. Jerry was like that, there to help in a time of need, no questions asked. What more could anyone ask?

Interestingly also, we found out that we "grew up" in neighboring communities only a few miles apart in Southern California (Garden Grove and Huntington Beach).

Jerry was an honest, extremely knowledgeable and extremely dedicated professional and it was both an honor and education to get to know him. His passing is a bit of a shock and surprise, but I know that my own life is better for having gotten to know him and grew in appreciation of his expertise, honesty, dedication and diligence in work and of the love he often expressed for his family.

In heartfelt remembrance, vaya con Dios, Jerry.

“ Dear Julie and Mandy,

I am very sorry for your loss. Even though I never met you, I still feel like I know you both. Jerry and I spent many times in the kitchen at work chatting about both of you. I loved to get updates about what Mandy was doing now. He was so proud of all your accomplishments and was always eager to share them with me. I will miss those wonderful talks.

I know how it feels to lose your dad unexpectedly. My heartfelt thoughts and prayers go out to you and your family at this difficult time.
