

Jessie Joseph Fountain

June 13, 1977 - December 11, 2021

Jessie Joseph Fountain aka Joey, 44, of Farmersville California passed away in a car accident on December 11th, of 2021.

Joey was born June 13th 1977 in the state of Louisiana. Joey grew up in Farmersville California with his five other siblings, he was the youngest of six. When he was just a boy he liked to play the drums and help the elderly with their yard work. As Joey got older he loved to be with his friends and family. Joey enjoyed barbecues, music, and he loved to laugh and joke. Joey was a well known bartender at the Pump House in Visalia California for many years. Joey loved to work in many different things, he was known as a jack of all trades. Some things he liked to do on his free time was ride horses, listen to music, and go to the bars with his friends. Joey only had one daughter and her name is Jessalyn Fountain. He would brag about his daughter to his friends and tell them how proud he was of her any chance he had. Joey's daughter was his whole world. Joey loved his daughter more than he loved anything, and he always tried to make her proud.

Joey was proceed in death by his father Jessie Lee Fountain. Joey was survived by his mother Donna Lea Fountain, his daughter Jessalyn Diane Fountain, grandson Von Lee Fountain, brother Mike Fountain, sisters Rose Fountain, Denise Blake, Trina Wadkins, and Christel Fountain, and many nieces and nephews.

“ Joey, had such a big heart
I remember talking with him
When I gave him rides home to farmerville
From the pumphouse.
I remember all the jokes he make
He will never be forgotten
All the memories of him
Will be forever.
Joey you will always be family to me.
One of the songs I used to sing
At the Pumphouse
Redneck woman & Here for the party
He really like the songs.
He used to say
Since I like to dance
Carolyn the one person
When a good dance song
Comes on she be the first person
To be dancing by herself.
I miss ur laugh
I miss telling like it is attitude
Tell I see you again. Much love Carolyn
