

Joellen Wosser Wilson

June 19, 1946 - June 9, 2023

Joellen Wosser Wilson was born June 19th, 1946, in Oakland, CA. She was the first of Mary Helen and Joe Wosser's four daughters. In her early years, her family moved around the world as her father served in the Marines. She was always proud of his bravery as a pilot, flying a Corsair in the Korean War. If you knew her, she would say she was the son her father never had.

Following in her father's footsteps, she too became a pilot. The Wosser's eventually settled down in Reno, NV where she attended the University of Reno. In one of her classes was a young man named Marvin Wilson, from Exeter, CA whom she fell in love with and married. After they both graduated, they returned to Exeter to help start Sequoia Orange Company. There they built a wonderful life together. They had two sons, Jeffrey and James. They made many friends, traveled the world, and raised their boys. Joellen played the organ at her church in Woodlake, accompanied Exeter school choirs and taught piano out of her home. She maintained a relationship with many of her beloved students over the years. She played tennis regularly with a group of incredible women who named themselves "The Pigs." These women added so much to Joellen's life and are irreplaceable. The same can be said for her long-time assistant, Alisha. Joellen's life was full because of the wonderful friendships she and her husband had made over the years. She loved her parents, her sisters and their families. She especially loved Jeff, Jamie, Heidi, Max, Lucas, Kate, and Seth. Joellen would often share this piece of advice,

"Never be boring!" She most certainly was not!

She is loved in return by her family and friends and will be greatly missed... until they see her once again in Heaven!
