

Kayden Andrew Infield

September 19, 2011 - April 13, 2025

Celebrating and honoring the life of Kayden Andrew Infield - a boy whom, though only here for a short time, left an everlasting mark on every heart he touched.

Kayden was born on September 19, 2011, at Kaweah Delta Hospital in Visalia, California, alongside his twin brother Kash. From the very beginning, he brought joy, laughter, and warmth into the world. He was a smiley, happy baby, the kind whose presence lit up every room. His love for life was obvious to all who knew him. He had a gentle heart, a kind soul, and a selfless spirit.

Family gatherings were never complete without the twin boys running around, making us laugh, bringing energy and fun wherever they went. Kayden's laughter was contagious, and his love was limitless. He had a deep love for the outdoors, always eager to explore, to be in nature, to chase sunsets in the mountains. Whether he was riding scooters to the corner store with his brothers or simply watching the sky change colors at dusk, Kayden found joy in the simple, beautiful things. His favorite color was purple, a fitting color for someone so unique, so vibrant, so full of light.

One of the most beautiful things about Kayden was how much he cared for others. He was a listener, a helper, a protector. He thought of others before himself, always a quality that didn't go unnoticed. His brother described him perfectly: "He was a hero. He always puts others before himself." And that's who Kayden was in life, and even in death. In his passing, Kayden gave the ultimate gift, the gift of life. Through organ donation, he has given other children a second chance, carrying forward his legacy of compassion, bravery, and love. Kayden was born a hero. And he died a hero. Though our hearts are broken, we hold on to the memories of his laughter, his kindness, his adventurous spirit, and the deep love he gave so freely. We will honor him by living with that same courage, that same compassion, that same joy.

We love you, Kayden. We always will.

Kayden was preceded in death by his grandfather Mark Pugh, his great grandpa Wayne Pugh, his great grandfather Ernie Foust, and great grandmother Ruth Foust, his aunt Jamie Infield and his great grandmother Jeanine Morton. Kayden left behind his mother Britney Infield, father Orrin Infield, stepfather Dillon Nye, sisters Kya, Dallas and Chevelle. Brothers Kash, Karson and Remi. His aunts Jennifer, Taylor, Brandi Crippen and grandmothers Sandy Pugh and Rita Nye and his abundance of cousins and great aunts and uncles. His grandfather Bud Infield and grandmothers Deborah Infield and Laura Infield.
