

Keri Lea Ward

March 22, 1967 - August 27, 2025

Today, we gather to celebrate and honor the life of a truly extraordinary woman, Keri Lea Ward. Though our hearts are heavy with grief, we also feel immense gratitude for having known her, loved her, and been touched by her kindness and strength.

Keri was a beacon of compassion and resilience. From her early days in Dinuba, California, to her years of dedicated service as a nurse, she exemplified what it means to care for others. Her unwavering commitment to her patients and her pursuit of knowledge-earning her bachelor's and master's degrees-showed her relentless dedication to growth and making a difference.

Beyond her professional accomplishments, Keri was a loving wife, a devoted mother and stepmother, and a cherished grandma. Her family was her greatest joy, and her love for them was evident in everything she did. She was a source of comfort, wisdom, and strength, always putting everyone else before herself.

Keri faced her illness with courage and grace, never losing her spirit or her hope. Her resilience was an inspiration to all of us. She taught us the importance of perseverance, kindness, and the power of a loving heart.

Today, as we remember Keri, let us carry forward her legacy of compassion and strength. Let us honor her memory by living with the same courage and love she showed each day.

Though she may no longer be with us in body, her spirit remains alive in our hearts, her lessons guiding us, and her love forever shining as a light in our lives. Rest in peace, Keri. You will be deeply missed and forever loved.
