“ Michael Mooney, It's 2023 & I am just learning of your passing. Mooney - you were the first man I ever fell completely, madly and deeply in love with. I've tried looking you up several times and had zero luck. OMG. There's been a part of me waiting to grow up to be good enough for you. I have a child now and you would adore him. I regret that we were unable to ever work things out. I tried contacting you a couple times and even spoke to your mom. Oh I hope Susie is okay. You are with your dad that was your greatest fan. Next to your mom. You shaped my life Michael. And the sadness, total emptiness and shock is something I only felt with Matthew passing. You two are together smoking a big fat joint and running around haven't acting like foolish kids. I can totally see it in my head. I've told my son all about you and he couldn't wait you fly to Cali and see the beach for the first time. You were a part of me I could never let go. I'm sorry I want there and I pray that you went peacefully without any illness or anything of the sorts. Come visit me sometime. Matt knows where I am. His goofy butt will tell you. Lol. Michael Mooney, you were the love of my life and the only man for me. I have opened my own company as I always wanted to. Thank you for all the encouragement you gave me. I'm finally at a place in life where I'm happy with me. For me. My boy. And my family. You have been the ONE person that I have heard in my head over and over. When I grow up, we'll be good. Well, baby I'm finally here and your gone. For good gone (until I see you in heaven my love).

Xoxo. Forever & Always. We promised. And my love for still good on....

Forever...

Brandi
