

Scott Andrew Greenall

January 16, 1973 - March 11, 2026

It is with profound sadness and deeply loving hearts that we announce the passing of Scott Andrew Greenall, who left this world suddenly and unexpectedly on March 11, 2026, taken far too soon from the people who loved him deeply. Born on January 16, 1973, in Garden Grove, CA, Scott lived a life that was nothing short of extraordinary. He was a testament to the power of determination, passion, and an unbreakable spirit.

Scott came into this world facing challenges that would have stopped many in their tracks. Born with cerebral palsy, he simply refused to let it define him or limit what he could achieve. He learned to ride a bike. He learned to drive a car. He learned to play many instruments. And time and again, when he set his mind to something, he found a way. Scott didn't just overcome obstacles; he made them look small.

At the heart of who Scott was, lived a deep and abiding love for music. He was a gifted producer with a rare ear for sound, and for many years he poured that talent into his own recording studio, a place where creativity was nurtured and dreams were given a beat. Music wasn't just what Scott did, it was who he was, and his passion for it inspired everyone around him.

Scott's passing was the result of an accidental overdose, a heartbreaking end to a remarkable life. His family shares this not out of shame, but in hopes that Scott's story might remind others that addiction does not discriminate, and those struggling deserve compassion, not judgement. He was so much more than the circumstances of his death.

He is survived by his cherished daughter, Morgan Greenall; his devoted mother, Beverly Mark; his brother, Mark Greenall, and his wife Jennifer; his sister, Andrea McClain, and her husband Keith; and a treasured circle of nieces and nephews who brought him so much joy.

Scott may be gone from our sight, but he will never be gone from our hearts. Those who loved him will carry his memory forward, in laughter shared, in quiet moments, and in every song that moves the soul in a way that can't quite be explained.

"Those we love don't go away; they walk beside us every day."

A celebration of Scott's life will be held at Salser & Dillard Funeral Chapel on April 4, 2026, at 11 A.M. In lieu of flowers, the family welcomes donations to United Cerebral Palsy in Scott's memory.

Services have been entrusted to Salser & Dillard Funeral Chapel. Memorial Tributes and condolences may be offered by logging onto www.salseranddillard.com.

“ This moving tribute to Scott Greenall reminds us that those with limitations so often have compensating gifts that we need to appreciate. Scott proved this with his talent and drive. My heart goes out to his family in this sudden loss. Special recognition goes to his mother, Beverly, whose encouragement, support and sacrifice made his achievements possible.
