“ Unknown to most everyone is my memory of a week with Steven when we were both about 13 in San Luis. We camped in the back yard. Cooked marshmallows with a fire started with motor oil. I still taste the oil. We advanced to bacon eggs but the skillet caught on fire and we got into a wrestling match over who should put it out. Steven won and I smothered the skillet fire by turning it over. Later we were in the house melting wax parrifin on the stove and it caught on fire. We spent hours scrubbing black smoke stain off of the walls and then doing Laundry. When aunt Viola came home from her route I heard her say to Orville that the kitchen was getting dingy. I don't know if anyone ever knew what happened that week. But it left me with a great memory. Kevin

“ Steve, I'm going to miss you picking on me on Facebook. I remember putting puzzles together and playing when we were little. Did you and Deby really taste canned dog food at Grandma Strader's house? lol
I love you cousin. I'm missing you already.
I love you Joanne. You call me for anything. This is truly sad.
